Project Work: General
Rules

Prof. Stefano Bruna

Prof. Franca Garzotto

+ Project

- Team work (2-3 persons, also mixing students from the Italian and English classes)
- SCORE: Project counts for 50% of the final score

IMPORTANT!

Project Specs remain the same for the 2 appelli in June-July but CHANGE in September and CHANGE AGAIN in February

+ Project: Some Exam Rules (see also slides on Course Introduction)

DELIVERY RULES

- In case both the design and the technology written exam have been passed during the course, the Project can be delivered at the first or the second appello, otherwise the written exam score will be cancelled and the entire written exam must be redone

- In case the written exam has not been passed during the course, the Project can be delivered:

  - At the same appello in which the written exam has been done

  - At the first appello following the one in which the written exam has been passed, otherwise the written exam score will be cancelled and the entire written exam must be redone

Hence: if students want to deliver the project after taking and passing the written exam in appello X, the written exam score will be valid till appello X+1 only (but not if X is the last appello)

+ Project: Exam Rules (continuation)

If no member of a project group passes the written exam, the project will not be evaluated and the delivered material will be returned

If some of the members of a project group do not pass the written exam:

- the project will be evaluated and will contribute to the final score of the other group members who passed the exam

- for the group member(s) who did not pass the written exam, the project score will remain valid till the appello following the one in which the project is delivered: if they do NOT pass the written exam in the following appello, they will loose the project score and will have to deliver a DIFFERENT project
